EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Kenneth Berner on September 21, 2006.

The application has been amended as follows:

In the PRELIMINARY AMENDMENT to the Specification on page 2, line 3 of the paragraph, after the filing date of parent Application 09/712,844, added the expression, "now US Patent No. 6,980,617".

Claims 2, 7, 12, 17 have been replaced with the following amended claims:

Claim 2. (currently amended) A reception data synchronizing apparatus for obtaining synchronization between reception data having a plurality of synchronism patterns and expectation data as an expected value of the reception data, comprising:

a synchronism pattern detecting timing recording means for recording a first synchronism pattern detecting timing at which a first of the plurality of synchronism patterns is detected;

a collation and synchronism decision means for collating the reception data with the expectation data to decide whether or not the reception data is consistent in phase with the expectation data according to the first synchronism timing;

wherein the synchronism pattern detecting timing recording step means records a second synchronism timing as the first synchronism timing, when the collation and synchronism decision means gives a decision for inconsistency in phase, and wherein said second synchronism timing is a timing at which a second of the plurality of synchronism patterns is detected.

Claim 7. (currently amended) A reception data synchronizing method for obtaining synchronization between reception data having a plurality of synchronism patterns and expectation data as an expected value of the reception data, comprising:

a synchronism pattern detecting timing recording step for recording a synchronism pattern detecting timing at which a first of the plurality of synchronism patterns is detected;

a collation and synchronism decision step for collating the reception data with the expectation data to decide whether or not the reception data is consistent in phase with the expectation data according to the first synchronism timing;

wherein the synchronism pattern detecting timing recording step records a second synchronism timing as the first synchronism timing, when the collation and synchronism decision step gives a decision for inconsistency in phase, and wherein said second synchronism timing is a timing at which a second of the plurality of synchronism patterns is detected.

Claim 12. (currently amended) A computer-readable medium embodying a program of instructions for execution by the computer to perform a reception data synchronizing method for obtaining synchronization between reception data having a plurality of synchronism patterns and expectation data as an expected value of the reception data, comprising:

a synchronism pattern detecting timing recording step for recording a synchronism pattern detecting timing at which a first of the plurality of synchronism patterns is detected;

a collation and synchronism decision step for collating the reception data with the expectation data to decide whether or not the reception data is consistent in phase with the expectation data according to the first synchronism timing wherein the synchronism pattern detecting timing recording step records a second synchronism timing as the first synchronism timing, when the collation and synchronism decision step gives a decision for inconsistency in phase, and wherein said second synchronism timing is a timing at which a second of the plurality of synchronism patterns is detected.

Claim 17. (currently amended) A reception data synchronizing apparatus for obtaining synchronization between reception data having a plurality of synchronism patterns and expectation data as an expected value of the reception data, comprising:

a synchronism pattern detecting timing recording device that records a first synchronism pattern detecting timing at which a first of the plurality of synchronism patterns is detected;

a collation and synchronism decision device that collates the reception data with the expectation data to decide whether or not the reception data is consistent in phase with the expectation data according to the first synchronism timing, wherein the synchronism pattern detecting timing recording device records a second synchronism timing as the first synchronism timing, when the collation and synchronism decision device gives a decision for inconsistency in phase, and wherein said second synchronism timing is a timing at which a second of the plurality of synchronism patterns is detected.

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

During a telephone conference with Applicant's attorney Kenneth Berner on September 18, 2006, the Examiner suggested a proposed amendment that would better clarify the claimed invention, which is now incorporated in the instant application as indicated by the present Examiner's amendment.

The prior arts of record taken alone or in combination fail to teach, anticipate, suggest or render obvious the claimed invention as recited in the independent claims.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
